

Skier & Snowboarder Ability Questionnaire

1. Rate your fitness level. 10 being the most active.

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

2. Rate your style of skiing or riding. 10 being the most aggressive.

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

3. When skiing/riding at a Utah resort, how often do you ski black or double black diamonds?

Never 0 1 2 3 4 5 Often 6 7 8 9 10 Always

4. Can you make continuous linked turns in powder snow?

No 0 1 2 3 4 5 Usually 6 7 8 9 10 Absolutely

5. How comfortable do you feel on steeper slopes?

Not very 0 1 2 3 4 5 OK 6 7 8 9 10 I love steeps!

6. Rate the pace you prefer to ski or ride at?

Slower 0 1 2 3 4 5 Leisurely 6 7 8 9 10 Fast

7. OK, now add up your answers and see what ability you are!

Skier Ability Results

Expert (score of 60): Individuals that can ski/ride any slope in any snow condition and can maintain a rapid, non-stop pace. They never fall (well, almost never...) and are very experienced backcountry individuals.

Advanced (score of 48-59): Individuals that often ski/ride black and double black slopes in all conditions and prefer a fast pace. They seldom fall and can confidently traverse any slope to avoid obstacles. Advanced skiers and snowboarders are proficient off trail (off-piste). These individuals have previous backcountry experience.

Advanced-Intermediate (score of 36-47): Individuals that can ski/ride most black and double black slopes in good conditions. They prefer a moderate pace and may fall occasionally, but can quickly gather oneself. They can confidently traverse most slopes to avoid obstacles. Advanced-Intermediate skiers or snowboarders have little or no backcountry experience, but are comfortable skiing/riding off trail off-piste at the resort.

Intermediate (score of 24-35): Individuals that can ski/ride blue and black slopes in good conditions and have enough endurance to maintain a steady pace. Intermediate skiers or snowboarders fall occasionally, but may need time to gather oneself and can traverse and avoid obstacles. May only venture off trail or off-piste on good days. Little to no powder experience.

Beginner (score of 0-23): Individuals whom can handle moderate slopes only in good conditions and are able to ski a full day at a slow pace. Beginners may be solid recreational skiers/riders who prefer green and blue groomed slopes. Please contact our sales team prior to booking.

Do you have a question about our skier and snowboarder ability guidelines? Please contact our sales team at 801-742-2800 for further assistance.